

STROUD SCHOOL: INCLUSION POLICY

This policy is applicable to all staff and pupils, including those in the EYFS

(Based on the statutory regulations as defined by the Equal Pay Act 1970, the Sex Discrimination Act 1986, the Gender Recognition Act 2004, International Development (Gender Equality) Act 2014, the Employment Equality (Sexual Orientation) (Religion Belief) Regulations 2007, the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000, Race Relations Act (Amendment) Regulations 2008, the Education Act 2011, the Children and Families Act 2014, the SEND Code of Practice 2015, the Disability Discrimination Act 2005, the Human Rights Act 1998, the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations 2006 (Amendment) Regulations 2008, The Equality Act 2010)

Introduction

We are committed to securing equality of opportunity through the creation of an environment in which individuals are treated on the basis solely of their relevant merits and abilities. Our intention is for all who study and work at the School, regardless of their age, being or becoming a transsexual person, being married or in a civil partnership, being pregnant or on maternity leave, disability, race including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin, religion, belief or lack of religion/belief, sex or sexual orientation to have equality of opportunity. Any visitors to the School are required to adopt and endorse this policy.

At Stroud School, all forms of unlawful or unfair discrimination of anyone are unacceptable and are opposed. For the avoidance of doubt all the protected categories listed above are regarded as equally valid with none taking precedence over the other. We seek to educate, creating an environment reflecting mutual respect, empathy and understanding and to that end encourage constructive dialogue offering differing perspectives from students and staff. Our aim is to secure fair and equal treatment for all pupils and, similarly, for all staff.

Every pupil and member of staff is expected to further this aim by contributing personally towards a happy, caring environment, by showing respect for, and appreciation of, each other as individuals, and by helping to oppose and prevent all forms of prejudice, discrimination, harassment and bullying.

Commitment to this policy is shared by pupils, staff, parents and governors.

Pupils

Admissions: It is the School's policy to ensure equitable treatment of all applicants. The same admissions procedure applies to all applicants regardless of Age, SEND, Gender reassignment, Pregnancy and maternity, Race, Culture, Religion and belief, Sex or Sexual orientation.

Facilities: It is the School's policy to ensure equitable provision of facilities and access to examinations for all pupils. However, girls and boys with severe physical disabilities may find some of the School's site and buildings difficult to negotiate.

Curriculum:

- All pupils have equal access to the School curriculum which has breadth, balance, relevance and progression. Our aim is to provide for all pupils in the School according to their needs.
- Delivery of the curriculum must be balanced, objective, sensitive and have regard to pupils' different learning styles. Resources should be free from racial or sexual bias or discrimination and from portraying stereotypes. Pupils should have access to accurate information about similarities and differences between the sexes and between cultural groups.
- PSHEE has an essential role in promoting the School's Inclusion Policy and in countering racial, sexual or any other form of prejudice, discrimination or harassment.

Religion: Although the School is a Christian foundation and although we expect pupils to attend School assemblies and services, pupils are free to follow their own religious beliefs, and no attempt is made to evangelise those of a non-Christian faith.

Pastoral care: The pastoral system also has an essential role in promoting the School's Inclusion Policy and in countering racial, sexual or any other form of prejudice, discrimination or harassment. Pupils should be allocated to tasks fairly and encouraged to assume roles and responsibilities regardless of gender or ethnic origin.

Rewards and sanctions: Rewards and sanctions must be administered fairly and on an equal and uniform basis. It is essential that no-one feels that others are treated more leniently in matters of discipline. All pupils are expected to observe the School rules and conduct themselves in an appropriate manner.

Co-curricular activities: Care must be taken to ensure that opportunities are equally available to all pupils. Currently, however, some sports are available to only one sex.

Links with the community: Links with the wider community provide opportunities for pupils to observe and experience the outside world and will inevitably help to inform their own attitudes to and views on gender, ethnicity and class. It is therefore important to ensure that such experiences are positive. Equally, it is important to ensure that visitors to the School are drawn from both sexes and from backgrounds which reflect social and cultural diversity.

Visiting speakers and advisers: All staff should ensure that the School's Inclusion policy is known to visiting speakers and advisers who are directly involved with pupils.

Language: Pupils whose first language is not English must feel that their language and/or dialect is valued. They should therefore be allowed to use their home language in School, but never to use it to exclude others.

Food: We work in partnership with parents to ensure that the medical, cultural and dietary needs are met. We help children to learn about a range of food, cultural approaches to meal times and eating and to respect the differences among them.

Staff

The School ethos: The ethos of the School is one that values staff equally on the basis of their merits, abilities, qualifications and experience, and irrespective of age, gender, Marriage and civil partnership, social, ethnic or cultural origins, and, similarly, has equal expectations of staff in their professional conduct, professional development and performance in post.

Appointments & staffing:

- All appointments to posts in the School are on the basis of equal opportunities. Remuneration and general terms and conditions of service apply equally to men and women. Maternity and paternity leave apply to female and male employees respectively. The age of retirement is the same for both men and women and shared parental leave to both.
- The School's Inclusion Policy must apply at all levels to staff as well as to pupils. Pupils should be given positive role models of both sexes and from different social and ethnic backgrounds.

Professional conduct: Competency, disciplinary and dismissal procedures are the same for all teaching staff, irrespective of age, gender or status.

Staff INSET: All staff participate in staff INSET and through it are enabled to identify their own training needs. INSET is provided regularly for all staff, and provision for individual training is allocated on a fair and equitable basis, according to need.

Contact time with pupils:

- In contact time with pupils, all staff should be aware of possible cultural assumptions and bias in their own attitudes and take care to avoid any racist, sexist or homophobic connotations in the language they themselves use.
- All staff should be sensitive to pupils' differing experiences and skills, especially on their arrival in the School. Pupils' conditioning in the home and elsewhere may have predisposed them to culturally-based or gender-stereotyped ideas, assumptions or behaviour. Staff may need to raise expectations of potential or of standards of achievement or behaviour.
- The variety of teaching styles used should take account of pupils' different learning styles and should give all pupils equal access, provision and treatment. Pupils should be encouraged to work in both mixed and single sex groups.
- Staff should ensure that attention is given to all pupils in a lesson or activity and that excessive attention is not paid to pupils of either sex, whether singly or in groups.

Discrimination and Harassment

The following are the main forms of discrimination and harassment. The list is not exhaustive, and thus is intended as a guideline.

Discrimination against the Disabled: Any attitudes held by a person or group towards an individual with a disability which are offensive, discriminatory or hostile towards the individual are unacceptable. Also unacceptable are acts or expressions that reflect such attitudes, or any incitement to make others adopt such attitudes or behaviour.

Unacceptable behaviour would be, for example:

- physical assault against a person because of his or her disability
- verbal, written or on-line abuse, intimidation, insults, threats and graffiti
- making reference to an individual's disability in the course of discussions, lessons or activities
- refusing to co-operate with an individual or excluding an individual because of his or her disability
- inciting or encouraging others to behave in any of the above ways.

Racism: Any attitude held by a person or group of one ethnic origin towards another individual or group of different ethnic origin which is offensive, discriminatory or hostile towards the individual or group is regarded as racism and is unacceptable. Racism is also considered to exist in acts or expressions that reflect such attitudes or in any incitement to behaviour of that kind.

Unacceptable behaviour, for example, would be:

- physical contact or assault against a person or group because of colour or ethnicity
- verbal, written or on-line abuse, derogatory name-calling, insults, threats and racist jokes
- racist graffiti or caricatures
- the issuing or wearing of racist materials such as leaflets, magazines, insignia
- making racist remarks in the course of discussions, lessons or activities
- refusing to co-operate with other pupils or excluding other pupils because of colour or ethnic origin
- inciting or encouraging others to behave in any of the above ways.

Sexism: Sexism is considered to be any attitude, held by a person or group of one sex, towards an individual or group of the other sex which is offensive, discriminatory or hostile towards the individual or group, and which is unacceptable. Also unacceptable are acts or expressions that reflect such attitudes, or any incitement to behaviour of that kind. Such behaviour need not be repeated or continuous to constitute harassment.

Sexual Harassment: is defined by the NUT (2011) as 'unwanted conduct which violates your dignity, or creates an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for you. There are two main types of sexual harassment. It is either unwanted conduct towards you on grounds of your sex or gender, or it is unwanted verbal, non-verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature'.

Unacceptable behaviour would be, for example:

- uninvited physical contact, physical assault or abuse against a person or group because of their gender
- verbal, written or on-line abuse, intimidation, leering, insults, jokes or gestures of a sexist nature
- using lewd or suggestive vocabulary to patronise or to cause offence or humiliation
- making unwelcome comments of a sexist nature about dress and appearance
- sexist graffiti or other pornographic writing, offensive use of pornographic pictures
- making sexist remarks in the course of discussions, lessons or activities
- offensive reference to an individual's or group's sexuality
- refusing to co-operate with other pupils or excluding other pupils because of their gender or supposed sexuality

- inciting or encouraging others to behave in any of the above ways.

Where it is suspected that peer-on-peer sexual harassment has taken place, this could pose as a safeguarding risk and the DSL will be informed, particularly if a pupil is at risk of harm.

Incidences of sexual harassment by pupils and staff should be reported to the Head and on to external agencies (Part 5 KCSIE).

Incidents of discrimination or harassment

The effect of discrimination or harassment on its victims is to cause distress and tension. It can lead to fear, anxiety, stress-related illnesses and a general inability to cope as the victim's self-esteem is undermined. Furthermore, both discrimination and harassment undermine the ethos of the School. All staff and pupils are held to be of equal value.

In all cases, complaints must be treated in a serious but sympathetic manner. Victims may find it difficult to make a complaint for fear that their response to discrimination or harassment is interpreted as a lack of sense of humour or an overreaction to what others perceive as normal working or social relationships. Others may fear reprisal.

In cases where a member of staff is subjected to harassment, either by a pupil or a colleague, the victim may feel his or her authority or professionalism undermined if he or she raises the issue.

There is an established Complaints Procedure that is available on the School website: <http://www.stroud-kes.org.uk/policies>

Discrimination against or harassment of staff by staff: The following courses of action are recommended:

- A person whose behaviour is offensive should initially be made aware of this by the victim or by a confidant(e) of the victim, so that he or she has received due warning. The victim should take avoidance action as far as possible, e.g. not being alone in a room with the person concerned.
- If harassment continues, the victim may keep a written record of incidents and may call on the evidence of any colleagues who have been witnesses. The victim should inform the Deputy Head, who will report the matter to the Head and interview the member of staff accused. Written, signed statements will be taken at interview.
- If harassment persists, the matter should be reported again to the Head, who will decide the extent to which any formal disciplinary procedure should be implemented.

Discrimination against or harassment of a pupil by a member of staff: Evidence of discrimination or harassment may take a number of forms, such as:

- the witnessing of the discrimination or harassment by another member of staff
- evidence provided by a pupil or pupils confiding in another member of staff
- a formal letter of complaint by a parent or guardian.

Any such incident must be reported to the Head or, in his or her absence, to the Deputy Head. In minor cases, such as a careless racist or sexist remark, a verbal caution or warning to the member of staff and an apology to the pupil concerned may be sufficient. However, persistent or more serious allegations may be deemed to constitute abuse, and the specific procedures laid down by the Children and Families Act must be followed.

Discrimination against or harassment of a member of staff by a pupil: The following courses of action are recommended:

- Except in cases of actual physical assault or gross indecency (when the Head must be informed immediately), the incident should be dealt with in the first instance by the member of staff concerned issuing a reprimand and a verbal warning. A senior member of staff and the pupil's tutor should be informed.
- If harassment continues, then the member of staff should officially refer the matter to the senior member of staff. The Head should be informed. Written records should be kept of incidents and any steps taken.
- Should a pupil make an allegation of sexual harassment against a member of staff as a means of harassing the member of staff, it is vital that procedures are followed to the letter so that the integrity and professionalism of the member of staff are respected throughout any investigation which might ensue.
- In order to ensure that pupils are not presented with any opportunity to make unfounded allegations, members of staff are urged never to put themselves in any position which might be misconstrued as compromising their professionalism. Pastoral staff dealing with confidential matters, staff involved in assisting with Games, and staff involved in residential trips are urged to exercise particular caution.

Discrimination against or harassment of a pupil by another pupil: Racist, sexist or homophobic discrimination or harassment may differ from other forms of bullying in that it is not simply a personal attack but is indiscriminately and offensively aimed at a whole group to which the victim happens to belong. It is the School's responsibility to ensure that there is a sufficiently supportive and positive climate to enable any pupil who is the victim of racist, sexist or homophobic discrimination or harassment to inform a member of staff and be confident that effective action will be taken. It is important that the victim and, where appropriate, his or her parents are given reassurance that the School does not tolerate such behaviour:

- Should racist, sexist or homophobic comments occur in a lesson or during the course of a School activity, the member of staff should immediately make it clear to the whole class or group that such remarks are unacceptable. Where relevant, any offensive material should be confiscated, a careful record made, and the pupil concerned given an oral warning. The appropriate tutor must be informed.
- In the case of a pupil persistently giving offence, written records of incidents must be kept and the tutor again be informed. The Deputy Head should be notified and consideration given to contacting the parents, stating the nature of the problem and inviting them to come to School to discuss it. Support for the victim or the offender may need to be considered.
- It is recommended that topics to do with race or racism, sex or sexism should only be discussed in class when they are part of the curriculum and have been carefully planned. Recognition should be given to the richness of a diverse and pluralistic society.

Training, monitoring and evaluation

Staff development and INSET:

- School INSET will be provided to ensure that staff are kept fully aware of their responsibilities in respect of equal opportunities, discrimination and harassment on grounds of Age, Disability, Gender reassignment, Marriage and civil partnership, Pregnancy and maternity, Race, Religion and belief, Sex or Sexual orientation.

- The induction programme for new staff, newly qualified staff and ITT students at the School will include familiarisation with the School's Inclusion Policy.

- Annually, all staff (teaching and non-teaching) are advised to acquaint themselves with this policy and the groups stated in the first paragraph of the introduction to this policy so as to explore and identify the possibility of bias and inequality in any contact with pupils and staff.

Monitoring and Evaluation:

This policy will be kept under annual review. An analysis of incidents will be undertaken with a view to informing or amending procedures.
